OUR ORGANIZATION

United Through Reading®, the nation's first nonprofit to promote the read aloud experience for separated military families, offers military service members who are away from their families due to deployment or other circumstances the opportunity to be video-recorded reading storybooks aloud.

OUR SUPPORT TO MILITARY FAMILIES

- Builds family resiliency
- Makes homecomings easier
- Cultivates a love for books and of reading

This powerful program is available to deployed military units DoD-wide, hosted at select USO locations, and has served over 1.5 million beneficiaries since 1989.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE

1. The deployed service member reads a book aloud while being recorded and sends the video home to the child.
2. The child at home watches the video and follows along with the book, if available.
3. While the child watches the video, the caregiver captures the child's reaction and relates it back to the service member.
4. The service member receives the feedback and is encouraged to record again.

> MEET THE EMPLOYEE

Ana Santos - Library Technician/Director

by Paulette Burnard

Ana Santos' parents relocated from Terceira to the US in the 1970s. However, due to family obligations, they moved back to Terceira where Ana was born. Economic times were rough on the island so her family moved back to Boston. For fourteen years, Ana lived intermittently in Boston and Terceira.

How did you begin your library career?

I worked as a page, putting away books, in our high school library in Boston. Then I took courses on line before coming back to Terceira. I started as a volunteer in the library in 2004. Before that, I worked as a securing guard in the Portuguese Terminal here on base.

Security Guard?

Yes, I was hired because I'm so strong!! No really, I was hired because of my English language skills.

How long have you worked in the base library?

From 2004 until now. In the ten years I've been in the library I've worked with some amazing families. I feel a real connection to them. I've seen kids grow up here and it makes me feel so good to know how much they love the library. I mean, little kids run up and say "Thank you" to us. I don't know if it's Lajes or what, but I sure like it when kids feel that they can tell us how much they love coming to the library. They come to read, use the computers, enjoy our programs and sometimes they come just to chill out.

I always feel welcome when I walk through the door. You and your staff are wonderful. Making everyone feel special seems very natural to all the staff. It is! I am so very lucky to work with wonderful people, now as well as in the past. Mr.(Bill) Niblick taught us so much. It was thanks to him that we were able to win USAF's Library Program of the year in 2012 and 2013. Even though he isn't here anymore, the lessons he taught us carried through.

You seem to be able to run great programs without a lot of staff. How do you do it?

Volunteers! They are so wonderful and important to us. Some Airmen volunteer and then bring others to volunteer as well. That is the good part of life. We have other volunteers too. It's so satisfying to see people pull together and make something great happen.

What's your favorite part of the job?

I love the library atmosphere. It's a place to get help and I feel very good about being able to help people get the information they want. I love to explore new areas and ordering books for for our collection. I love all of our programs and working in a small community. I've learned so much and I want to learn more. I love my job. I am very lucky.

BAN ON AMERICAN STREET BULLFIGHTING

April 1, 5 a.m. - 8 p.m.

In response to the recent severe budget cuts, Lajes Field is looking for innovative ways to save money. Reducing the number of "A"irmen scheduled to PCS this summer would result in considerable cost savings. But how?

One suggestion is to lift the ban on Americans fighting bulls in the streets. "If the bulls do their job, it will indeed be a Permanent Change of Station for participating Americans. We'll save a lot of money," says a high ranking AFPC official.

If an insufficient number of bull fighting volunteers step up, each squadron will select a few members scheduled to PCS to go to the street battle—Hunger Games style.

In response to this draconian cost-saving method, the Fitness Center wants to prepare Americans. "We love Americans and want to train them for the battle," says Gus Silva, Fitness Center director.

"On April 1 we'll offer a hands-on class. We'll start with a stuffed bull on wheels and then move on to the real toiro.

Our curriculum includes:

- techniques in getting the bull's attention with rude gestures and umbrella taunting
- how to vault over barricades in a single bound
- how to get close enough to the bull so you can see your terrified reflection in his eyes

"We tested the class on my boss, Mr. Jeff Adams and he didn't do so well so I see a PCS cost savings right there."

Paulo Feliciano, FSS videographer thinks Americans trying to fight bulls would be very entertaining.

"We're looking for exciting content for Lajes CTV. This will be great."

A final decision is pending.
